DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The claimed subject matter of the muffler and catalyst must be shown.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-5, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It appears that claims 1 and 7 are direct translations or the foreign parent, and read poorly. Specifically, the claims comprise clauses strung together wherein it is not clear which clause is to be referred back to by another.

Claim 6 is withdrawn from consideration because a multiple dependent claim may not depend on another multiple dependent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Carlsson et al (US20020043227A1).

The engine disclosed by Carlsson et al also shares the same assignee as the present invention. All the elements appear exactly the same. However, while the volume of the transfer ducts with respect to the swept volume is not set forth, because the drawings are identical, the recited volumes are deemed the same. While it is understood that drawings cannot generally be relied upon to teach certain dimensional features, one of ordinary skill in the art would still be influenced to construct the device according to the drawings. The examiner has determined from the drawings using a ruler, that the volume of the transfer ducts is less than 10% of the swept volume.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carlsson et al as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Galligan et al (US20030165414A1).

Galligan et al disclose (page 7) that a catalyst for two-stroke engine may comprise a wire mesh having platinum group metals. Figure 4A shows the catalyst in a muffler 11. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a muffler with a catalyst in Carlsson et al as taught by Galligan et al to reduce noise and pollution.
